Øssur Johannesen born in 1970

As a painter seeks to express / paint the innermost quest of man or reach the soul, if desired. To me, this work is deeply serious.

I seek - painter and find religious motives of Jesus, angels and demons.

Moon, women, the ocean - infinity and ending in a moment. That's the universe my paintings are about. Where I have a moment for myself. It is often a self-portrait of pain sadness suffering loneliness and longing.

I have recorded more CDs of my own music and mine.

2 books of poetry. is represented in the Faroe Islands Art Museum Overtaci Museum.

I'm also featured in the art book: LIVING ART, 49 present-day Faroese artists by Unger Smærup Sørensen.
