As an artist, I move between two worlds, from expressive realism to abstraction, from Denmark to Switzerland. I paint with watercolor, acrylic and am fascinated by unusual formats. I paint because I can not leave it. I always find the process from blank sheet or canvas to the finished image very challenging. My thoughts revolve around solutions continuously until -hopefully I have found the solution in my head or by working with paints and brushes that please my eyes. The process is beautiful, frustrating, exciting, and often only brings patience and time to the solution. It's really hard to endure this wait, but so much the more beautiful if a job succeeds.
