Martin Johan Härd. Born in 1958

As long as I remember, I have always drawn and painted. I attended different kinds of evening classes in drawing and painting when I was very young. Later on during the 80's I study art in a private art-school in Liège, Belgium. After the art-school I worked 4 years with different artist in Belgium, Holland and France.

My work in oil, acrylic, watercolors and drawing are often colorful and very contentious.

Every picture tells its own detailed story and has his own mix of continental values. It contains stories in the story - the complexity of a present in life.

Things that stand out as somewhat different in the interplay between humans and their environment are often in focus. And it is these different events that often lead to I spin away in my mind and start to paint.

Sometimes it's a struggle in my head and sometimes things become so clear. I try to draw or paint some of those clear moments.

I have exhibited in Sweden, Denmark, France, Germany, West Indies and the USA.

Represented at the Nordic Heritage Museum of Seattle, USA.
