

Italy

Stefano Papi graduated in Industrial Design at the university of La Sapienza, Rome.

He presented Aura, the scooter of the future in his thesis, this design won the Aprilia Design Prize 2002, which was developed in collaboration with the Paretti Studio.

Stefano Papi dedicated himself to the development of products and the making of films and audiovisual presentations, collaborating as a freelance professional with various design studios. He manages the Communications side of various products and concepts for internet sites.

In 2005 he began his collaboration with Slamp , leading him deeper into company industrial process mechanisms. He deals with the optimization and innovation of these processes, as well as the making of products and exhibition display materials.

Stefano Papi developed production processes of Nigel Coates lamps which were displayed at the 11th Biennale of Architecture in Venice.

In 2008 Stefano Papi designed the suspension lamp Goccia di Luce (Drops of Light) for Slamp.

Tetra Pendel